KYOTO

Designer: Toni Rie

Glass pendant. Electro plated glass.

The name is inspired by the Japanese city. The Imperial capital of Japan for centuries, today Kyoto embraces the design-conscious nation's taste for stylish and refined design in the same spirit that has made Denmark and Scandinavian design famous.

The Kyoto lamp features several integral contrasts. The shade is coated with a very thin layer of metal using an advanced electro galvanization process. The metallic inner layer results in an exclusive, semi-transparent glass shade that reflects the light and catches the eye, while providing a soft glimpse of the bulb inside.

The Kyoto pendant is ideal in groups hanging over a dining table; but the pendant is also super elegant alone. Used together in a group, for instance over the dining table, they create a distinctive and bold look that plays with their different shapes.
